

Document Camera:

Replacing the traditional overhead projector and transparencies, the Doc Cam allows its user to place any document on the platform to be projected onto the screen. Adjustments such as focusing and sizing can be made directly on the device as opposed to moving a projector around the room to make the image fit onto the screen. Document cameras also project the color of the document.