A BRIEF HISTORY OF THE COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

When the Seminary of Our Lady of Angels was founded in 1856 with the purpose of preparing young men for the priesthood, a selected number of young men were also accepted for entrance into "the college." In 1883, Our Lady of Angels Seminary was re-chartered as Niagara University and 40 years later "the college" became known as the College of Arts and Sciences.

In 1908, the three-year program leading to a Bachelor of Science degree was extended to four years. College of Arts and Sciences degree programs continued to be added: Chemistry, Physics and Biology in the 1940s; English, Latin, History, Mathematics, Modern Languages and Sociology in the 1950s; Political Science in the early 1960s; Social Work, Criminal Justice and Communication Arts in 1973; Psychology, Biochemistry and Biotechnology in the late 1970s; Computing in 1980 and Theatre Studies in 1988. The most recent degree programs include Liberal Arts, a degree completion program for registered nurses and a Master of Arts in Interdisciplinary Studies. At present, the College of Arts and Sciences includes 18 academic departments, more than 30 undergraduate courses of study with approximately 1100 students, two graduate degree programs, almost 90 full-time professors and more than 120 part-time faculty members.

In 1981, Fr. Joseph Levesque, C.M., then dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, initiated the Day of Recognition to honor the achievements of outstanding students and faculty. In 1988, Dr. Susan Mason expanded the faculty awards to include Excellence in Service and in Scholarship.

Today as we celebrate the 30th annual Day of Recognition, we remember in a special way all the faculty and alumni/alumnae of "the college" and its successor, the College of Arts and Sciences.
