CAMPUS NEWS

A quick look at what’s happening on the Ridge. To access all the NU news, visit http://news.niagara.edu/.

A Legacy of Caring: Acknowledging the profound tradition of education and promoting future of its nursing programs, Niagara University has officially established a School of Nursing. The change in designations from a “department” to a “school” is an academic distinction viewed internally as a strategic branching opportunity for Niagara flourishing cycle of nursing programs.

Francois S. Crowley, 67, Ed.D., who chaired the Niagara chapter in Denver, Colo., from 2006, will serve as dean of the new School of Nursing. Michael H. Ackerman, ‘80, DNS, assumes the position of associate director.

The School of Nursing will remain under the college's University and School of Arts and Sciences and chartered by dean, Dea Nobles, Ph.D.

In addition, on one space for the $3.1 million Nursing Simulation Center took place last Sept. 10. The interior and additional facility will provide “hands-on” opportunities for students to manage patient encounters and skills in a risk-free, virtual reality environment, while supporting traditional classroom learning and clinical practice experiences.

Back on the Ridge: Six NU students recently returned to NU after completing an internship at École Jean-Baptiste Pointe du Sable, a school founded by 1978 Niagara University alumna Edward J. Brennan in Port-au-Prince, Haiti. For more, see this week’s alumni to staff tables and greet students and their parents, answer questions, and distribute admissions literature. We’ll provide you with everything you’ll need to help students or weekend. For more information, contact Howard Morgan at
